A trailblazer all the way

From trailblazing into the challenging real estate sector to now striving to make a mark in the star-studded world of Bollywood, Mansi Bagla has come a long way. She dons the hat of managing director of Mini Homes and Mini Films with equal aplomb.

A woman with an independent mindset and a sixth sense intuition which complements her business acumen, Mansi feels that hardwork and goodwill always pay positively. Moreover, she counts herself blessed to have a strong support system in the form of her business partner, Varun Bagla, CEO and co-founder, Mini Homes, who has provided relentless support in all her decisions.

While going full throttle with her new venture, she shares that a bevy of film projects are in the pipeline. With a strong backing in the form of quality scripts, directors and a talented team, she remains confident about pulling off new box-office success stories. "I am rich with content and scripts and quite positive at the moment," she says.

Most industry people vouch for her fire-in-the-belly and go-getter attitude and consider her energy levels akin to actor Ranveer Singh. "I am making my own team and I believe in the adage, slow and steady wins the race. People who are faithful in your personal life are loyal to you in professional life as well. I have won the adulation from all the aces and biggies of the industry. I want to make them all proud."

About her success mantra, she shares, "Stay focused, work hard and remain positive no matter how difficult the situation arises. There is always light at the end of the tunnel."
